Faculty Statement on Narendra Modi Visit to Silicon Valley

Guest Blogger / August 27, 2015

As faculty who engage South Asia in our research and teaching, we write to express our concerns about the uncritical fanfare being generated over Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit to Silicon Valley to promote "Digital India" on September 27, 2015.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit to Silicon Valley highlights the role of a country that has contributed much to the growth and development of Silicon Valley industries, and builds on this legacy in extending American business collaboration and partnerships with India. However Indian entrepreneurial success also brings with it key responsibilities and obligations with regard to the forms of e-governance envisioned by "Digital India."

We are concerned that the project's potential for increased transparency in bureaucratic dealings with people is threatened by its lack of safeguards about privacy of information, and thus its potential for abuse. As it stands, "Digital India" seems to ignore key questions raised in India by critics concerned about the collection of personal information and the near certainty that such digital systems will be used to enhance surveillance and repress the constitutionally-protected rights of citizens. These issues are being discussed energetically in public in India and abroad. Those who live and work in Silicon Valley have a particular responsibility to demand that the government of India factor these critical concerns into its planning for digital futures.

We acknowledge that Narendra Modi, as Prime Minister of a country that has contributed much to the growth and development of Silicon Valley industries, has the right to visit the United States, and to seek American business collaboration and partnerships with India. However, as educators who pay particular attention to history, we remind Mr. Modi's audiences of the powerful reasons for him being denied the right to enter the U.S. from 2005-2014, for there is still an active case in Indian courts that questions his role in the Gujarat violence of 2002 when 1,000 died. Modi's first year in office as the Prime Minister of India included episodes of censorship and harassment of those critical of his policies, NGOs leading to a constriction of the space of civic engagement, ongoing freedom, and a steady impingement on the independence of the judiciary. In his tenure as Prime Minister, academic freedom is also at risk: foreign scholars' entry to India to attend international conferences, there has been interference in the governance of top Indian universities and academic institutions such as the Indian Council for Fundamental Research, the Indian Institutes of Technology and Nalanda. Underqualified or incompetent key appointments made to the Indian Council for Fundamental Research, the Film and Television Institute of India, and the National Board of Higher Mathematics are worrisome. These alarming trends require that we, as educators, remain警觉 to the modes of e-governance in India but about the political future of the country.

We urge those who lead Silicon Valley technology enterprises to be mindful of not violating their own codes of corporate responsibility when conducting business with a government which has, on several occasions already, demonstrated its disregard for human rights and civil liberties, as well as the autonomy of educational and cultural institutions.

Very truly “Anti India” Intelligent terrorists....You have used your intelligent Bomb to destroy the very nature of India...this will NOT happen, as true growth oriented India have learnt to live with our nuclear capabilities, including that of Pakistan. World looks now on India and – a shit on your tongue that utters this.

Well said, Sir. “Shit on your tongue”. How brilliantly put. What excellent reasoned and objective defense of Narenbhai. Thank god those ‘intelligent terrorists’ at universities never got to mess with your wonderful writing style and your incisive knack for factually grounded arguments.

Let's check the facts:

> “Digital India” seems to ignore key questions raised in India by critics concerned about the collection of personal information and the near certainty that such digital systems will be used to enhance surveillance and repress the constitutionally-protected rights of citizens.

I think what is being referred to is UIDAI (Unique Identification Authority of India) More Info:

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Unique_Identification_Authority_of_India

This is the world's largest national identification number project. It collects biometric and demographic data of residents, and issue a unique identity number called Aadhaar to each resident.

Yes people have objected to taking biometric information for this card. In fact BJP was opposed to UIDAI when it was in opposition:

<http://www.firstpost.com/politics/bjp-attacks-aadhaar-scheme-says-it-violates-right-to-privacy-1186861.html>

What has conveniently been left out is that it was Congress under Manmohan Singh that brought UIDAI sometime in 2010. The same faculty members who are opposing it today were either not aware of it or looking the other way when UIDAI was made compulsory by the Manmohan Singh administration.

> there is still an active case in Indian courts that questions his role in the Gujarat violence of 2002 when 1,000 died.

Much has been written about Gujarat violence of 2002, much of it to polarize opinions and needless to say bereft of facts and that is why when Modi visited UAE and a Indian Muslim migrants in Abu Dhabi, he received there. Critics have no answer to that.

> Modi's first year in office as the Prime Minister of well publicized episodes of censorship and harassment critical of his policies, bans and restrictions on NGOs constricting of the space of civic engagement,

Facts: Congress under Manmohan Singh banned NGOs in its tenure, here is a small list:

1. 600 NGOs were banned in 2007:

<http://www.livemint.com/Politics/naU4bPHFu6elSWOmgNE5ZL/Govt-bans-600-NGOs.html>

2. Action taken against 100 NGOs in 2012:

<http://timesofindia.indiatimes.com/india/Accounts-of-30-NGOs-frozen-70-banned-from-receiving-funds-Govt/articleshow/13064313.cms>

3. Govt cancelled foreign funding of 4141 Christian NGOs:

<https://bharatabharati.wordpress.com/2013/08/27/government-cracks-down-on-foreign-funding-of-christian-ngos-newsbharati/>

4. Freezed accounts of 46 NGOs in 2010

<http://www.dnaindia.com/india/report-govt-freezes-accounts-of-46-ngos-using-foreign-funds-1439931>

> academic freedom is also at risk: foreign scholars have been denied entry to India to attend international conferences, there has been interference with the governance of top Indian universities and academic institutions

Facts:

It was Congress govt that has always trampled freedom of speech.

Eg 1: 1st amendment to the constitution (Article 19) imposed restrictions on freedom of speech and expression.

Eg 2: Emergency 1975-77 when all the fundamental rights of citizens were suspended by then PM Indira Gandhi

Well, your answer is factual. I agree to some points you mentioned but not most. In most of the points, you have pointed the finger to Congress and what they did in their tenure. What they did was wrong, but at the same time, what NDA is doing right now is wrong as well. Specially in the case of interference with IIT's, IIM's (IIM bill) and other educational institutes and policies (like banning German in schools etc). This fact is very accurately mentioned in the above article. I cannot see any possible intellectual reasons in favor of this step by NDA.

Blind bhakti of anything, be it Modi, is not good.

Well written. Abhishek should read the IIM Bill. It frees IIMs from state control. The BJP governments have never proscribed books or films or any work of art but for a few (one or two) extremely rare exceptions. Non-BJP governments have always done it. The worst were the Leftists. They proscribed works of art, banished historians who did not agree with them, burnt cinema halls, killed their opponents. The Congress governments rivalled them and showed their ugly faces during Emergency. Nehru made laws to gag free speech. Today, Mamata's TMC, with her Congi legacy, has crossed all the limits in West Bengal. Even DMK and AIADMK governments have been intolerant to their opposition.

So, the BJP has the best track record on free speech and artistic freedom. In fact it was the RSS that forced Indira Gandhi during emergency to save the freedom of speech. So, this campaign of calumny was based on conjecture and white lies. Even the Chief Minister of Gujarat, he never ever tried to silence his opponents. They had a free run to carry out a campaign based on lies to denigrate him.

Quoting your post “It collects biometric and demographic data of residents, and issue a unique identity number called Aadhaar to each resident.”

I don't know how the number remains unique. UID numbers should be unique to a person to the individual. If it no longer remains unique, or the purpose of its privacy is lost, when the government offices ask you to use the last 6 digits of your Aadhar number as your identification number for Biometric Attendance.

Krishna Kumar

September 8, 2015 at 2:03 pm

Hi Raghu,

Just because you don't know how to generate a unique ID from a set of known numbers, don't knock the concept. Any mathematician worth his salt can tell you how. Why don't you put in a bit of effort before commenting?

Even in USA, the last four numbers of your social security number are used as one part of an identity recognition.

Regards,

Krishna Kumar

Excellent point. No techies. All Anti-India Activists. One question though: since the techies alone are true patriots, what are they doing in California? Would it not be best for them to move back to Bharat? Especially now that Narenbhai has made it the Heaven on Earth? Surely the true patriots need to contribute their skills to Narenbhai's efforts?

Also, Sir, may I enquire why instead of a truly patriotic techie Narenbhai chose Smritibehn to run the HRD Ministry? Is that really the best use of techie patriotism?

These professors (sepoy) have deep hatred for Narendra modi and hence such statements by them as a group. They repeatedly used Gujarat riots to make their point which they think that by repeating same thing over and over again it will become truth. Being professors they have enough brainpower to do their research to find the truth..enough online to prove them wrong. If anything, Modi has been victim of this malicious propaganda. From day one its not Modi's past that bothers them it is what he stands for. He stands for India that is proud of its sanskrit/eastern philosophy, its culture and its contribution to the world through time. He represents majority India that has been under the indirect rule of the foreign educated Sepoys who have tried to control Indians both externally and internally by imposing western philosophy through their control of education policies. Now they have lost control over it for the first time since independence and hence all this anxiety in them. In carrying out their malicious agenda they forget Narendra Modi is PM of country and his visit is to market country to improve the image of the country and to create jobs for all Indian youth irrespective of what they represent. With the exception of few all NRIs welcome PM of India who's visit has potential to improve living standards of many Indians and improve India-US relations. Only such sepoy with malicious agenda will go to the extent to harm the whole country..just

What is visible is the distinct Bangla bias amongst the signatories, who need to answer on what basis they express these concerns to be associated with Narendra Modi and how all of them would ever come under his government given India's federal structure. And now why should they be so concerned about a country which most of the signatories have forsaken and whether they did express such concern when religious riots took place under Congress governance and the many scams and malgovernance of the Manmohan regime.

It is unfortunate that these so-called educators are spreading false info and venom on a popular people's PM, only because their leftist and Christian ideology is different from his nationalist one. That he is immensely dedicated, capable and truly secular is deliberately ignored by them. Thus the credibility of these 'educators' is highly questionable!

Bharat has seen 1000 years of slavery/tyranny/rapes/torture/denigration more than 80 million hindus. All these sacrifices were made to protect the knowledge for future generations.

After such a long time, we have got a true leader who is concerned about majority and minority unlike the previous secularist leaders whose focus was on minority only and who suppressed the majority/also denigrated bharat's ancient tradition.

Truly said!!..Time is not far when not only Bharatiyas living in USA but the whole world will come to Bharat for knowledge

Bharat was and will always be the shining beacon of knowledge for this whole world and will show the path of truth in this golden age.

It is time for each one of us to know our true identity/true history(not the fake history written by the mughal invaders/british sycophants or our own secularists/marxists/congtrads)/culture/tradition and our ancient heritage and contribute to our Sanathan Dharma which has been shining from the age of Ramayana and will be the shining light in the coming golden age

It's a group of known Modi haters with leftist bias on with their ancient narrative that disregards the truth. The present political dispensation led by Modi is the continuation of the history of India where his detractors seem to have been more than ever before. In the process they have been getting and losing their credibility. The signees to this appeal to same ignominy as a section of the English media is been trying its best to influence electoral choices and raising all the time. They even promote road-side ruffians and small-time megalomaniacs as revolutionaries to somehow thwart the attempts of Modi to transform India into a truly FEDERAL Republic. This group of congenital liars and Modi baiters has run the establishment so far with the help of funds provided by dubious NGOs. These freeloaders don't enjoy that luxury any more. This disturbs them and thus they indulge in such diatribe.

August 28, 2015 at 9:38 pm

Wow!! Surprising that these “professors” who are supposed to carry and promote the baton of honesty and integrity could stoop down to such low levels and mention outright lies. I’ve been following the politics in India closely and I can say that the accusations this corrupted lot has mentioned are baseless. The GOI has NOT interfered more than necessary with TIFR, Nalanda etc. I happen to research the case of Nalanda a bit and fact of the matter is that the previous Chancellor Amartya Sen (who btw happens to be dear to many on the list here) promoted a culture of nepotism, unaccountability and favoritism at Nalanda including questionable, unqualified appointments, inflated expenses and salaries. Even respected APJ Abdul Kalam wrote to President of India about the state of mismanagement at Nalanda especially related to faculty appointments. It’s highly ironic that Mr. Sen who apparently “cares” much about the Nalanda project didn’t even bother to attend the Opening Ceremony!!! One media site noted “While Prof Amartya Sen has been a critic of Narendra Modi and BJP Government, his relative silence on corruption during the UPA’s rule it would seem was purposeful. It can be said that he has been a beneficiary of the UPA’s arbitrariness and distribution of favours in the form of total control over the Nalanda University project. Nalanda University some believe had become a private estate with public money in the name of autonomy."

Moreover, the GOI didn't ask Sen to resign but he \ obviously because of his political affiliation to create "interference" to please his political masters. The GOI forced him to submit the plan and details about the university. Is this reasonable??? The same illusion of interference exists in other cases mentioned by Congress sympathetic media who are still rattled by their crushing defeat in the elections. They are trying all unscrupulous means to stay relevant. Within the realm of their mandate appointed their own political sympathizers in key positions including CBN. No media raised an eyebrow but now that NDA Government is that a problem? E.g Leela Samson was the head of the ZERO film industry experience. Her notable achievement was that she was the former dance instructor for Sonia Gandhi's daughter!!! . In contrast, all the NDA appointments have been those with relevant industry experience BUT they are being targeted because of their ideology and not their performance!!! How fair is that?? Simply disgusting and pathetic behavior by Congress and its crony supporters.

These "professors" mentioned above would do themselves a favour to not engage in dishonest behaviour showing lack of integrity and poor character and show respect to the principles of ethics and integrity that they are supposed to uphold. By relying on rumour mills and false propaganda, they are bringing disrepute to the academic profession. After all, isn't the quest for science and knowledge about facts thorough and open minded and objective research and analysis to form objective, educated opinions based on facts??? These professors are engaging in propaganda out of their own personal biases and hatred and are using their positions to promote it in a very unprofessional and dishonest way. This should be condemned by all who support high academic standards!!!

As a NRI concerned about academic standards, I for one would never ever in my professional or personal career associate with people of such low morals and integrity...

Further noting:

#1 It's also suspect that a lot of names are from the same university and directly points to some peer pressure tactics especially if pressure is suggestive and applied top down. Would an assistant/associate professor risk his/her tenure/funding by not being in the "good books" of a senior???

#2 I expect a follow on document/letter by the leaders of this group providing proof for substantiating with objective and fact based research these false allegations of interference, made in this letter namely academic freedom at risk: foreign scholars have been denied entry to India to attend international conference demonstrating its disregard for human liberties, as well as the autonomy of educational and institutions. Constriction of the space of civic engagement, violations of religious freedom, and a steady impinge on the independence of the judiciary. Good that we have list of these names which includes many persons of Indian origin. I have a request for them-please never come back to India. We Indians here have changed our course i.e. of development and self respect. We have voted Narendra Modi by giving his party absolute majority in the Indian parliament. Before giving us sermons on civil liberty and human rights, respect democracy and democratically elected govt. We understand some of yours latent love for communism, which makes you unable to digest the massive mandate India has given. To make facts clear, your statement contains baseless allegations and false notions. There is no case even remotely linked to Gujarat riots linking Modi is pending in any court of law. IIT, TIFR, IIMs are as pure as before. No foreign scholar has been denied entry. You have falsely accused of interference in judiciary, which no govt can do. We support restriction of NGOs that spearhead antinational movements, naxalism and evangelism with huge foreign donations. Modi is visiting USA as head of state to advance the cause of India and carrying our gratitude to hundreds of Indians who have made a mark in Silicon Valley. One of the things that I like about Modi is his guts/courage to take head-on with so called intellectual elitists or bogged down by their opinions. Best example is Amartya Sen. Of course he is great in his own field of work but was an utter failure when it comes to Nalanda university. No one can continue forever on past laurels, why should it be different for intellectual elitists ? I guess, what makes this group worry is the “RESERVATION” of high posts that they enjoyed even after continued failure just because of the intellectual tag during earlier governments.

It is funny this elitists group hates to look at anything good that he does and pick only on the failures. It looks so biased when all of them wake-up and team-up on a failure and keep mum for rest of the time when things are going good.

It is good we have an exhaustive list of the minuscule anti-India, Hindu hating population living in the US and working as foot soldiers for propagating a distorted global view about India and Hinduism in particular, in the garb of South Asian Studies. The agenda intent and covert strategy is well exposed by Mr. Rajiv Malhotra of Infinity foundation in his various books published and in particular the book “Breaking India”. Not bad to get a ready list of Breaking India stalwarts as well as their despicable foot soldiers.

By all means, welcome Modi. I like his Hindi rhetoric though much of it not understood nor necessary, but sounds great. He had 15 months to show something tangible except catchy Hindi slogans and gas cylinder subsidy to surrender! He seems brainy for his background but undeserved by substandard PMO, and even less brainy cabinet colleagues. Modi seems to suffer some hidden complex that he did not choose really great guys to help him in policy making and implementation strategies – looks he does not want anyone around with greater brain power than him!

The problem with you is that you don't understand much of what he speaks in Hindi nor are you aware of the lot of work he has done in the past 15 months apart from urging well-to-do Indians to surrender their cooking gas subsidy so that it can be passed on to more deserving people. Now he can't appoint academicians as his cabinet colleagues, can he? He has to appoint from among the people that have been elected from his party. And more than being brainy, it is the intentions that matter more. They are all well-intentioned people and striving to make a difference. What use are brainy people like Amartya Sen? You also appear to be a little biased against him.

I fail to understand how a bunch of so called 'Intelligencia' continue to abuse the will of the people of the largest democracy ! How these people (Mis)guided by their commie ideologies can continue to peddle lies like 'for there is an active case in Indian courts that questions his handling of riots...' I would love to tell this misinformed gang of commies that the fiercely independent Supreme Court of India, the highest judicial authority has in an independent enquiry supervised by it found That the PM of India was not be held responsible.. Even after the courts rejecting this fanciful story that the commies have been spreading, even after the electorate in India giving the PM n his party a BIG thumbs up.

I know some ppl will call me abusive when I see all this but honestly if their thick heads can't get some simple facts clear n they continue to spread lies and hatred about India and the democratically elected PM of India, they deserve no better !!!

Fabulous and well analysed. Any criticism against Modi is met with uncalled for abusive responses from his social media managers and from the followers of anti-democratic, anti-socialist Modisms in India (as can even be seen on this page). Glad that there will be voices from outside that will keep alive the injustices of this human being, even if he, as the head of this Govt., throttles freedom of press by buying them off and freedom of speech by imposing laws and regulations or simply threats and force. While he makes a PR event and tamasha of himself, this megalomaniac can arrange for any number of cloaked 'PM's meets' and Times Square Meets or Indian Community outreaches in his foreign visit blitzkreig, but truth will need to prevail... Kudos to the members who have signed the above...

The suggestion that there is greater constraints put on the press is a load of rubbish! I have not noticed any diminution in India as regards critique of Modi or NDA Government or coverage of critical comments by his political rivals! Where were these enlightened geniuses when similar environment or worse existed under Congress Govt. At least Modi has submitted to legal examination of his conduct of 2002 riots which is more than can be said of Rajiv Gandhi and his political heir, the much respected Sonia Gandhi! This article is just political point scoring and will have no effect beyond the chattering classes! All I can say to these scribes is to accept the democratic mandate of world's largest polity with grace and get a life!

Looking at the list of the petitioners, one thing is immediately obvious. They are all from humanities background. There is a disproportionate representation of Women and Gender studies, followed by English and History. No STEM academics here.

It is a clear demonstration of the intellectual and cultural malaise that infests the centres for Humanities studies in India, which convert bright young people into deracinated sepoys, training them to view their own societies through alien eyes and minds.

I have read the said blog with interest and am amazed at how such a biased and one sided piece has found active support and consent of so many academics working at such internationally acclaimed institutions. Surely, this is a sad reflection on these institutions as well as well as the institutions where these academics have studied for such institutions have shaped the thinking of these individuals. Am also saddened to find so many Indians among the signatories, for whom deriding their own country is a way to get recognition amongst other countrymen. One wonders as to what kind of Agenda they have behind such malicious propaganda pushed as a 'researched' piece. Surely, rising to higher positions in academic institutions is no guarantee of such persons having independence of thought, commitment to objectivity, fairness and the ability of rising above narrow self interest and keeping the well being of people at large in mind. Seems it is too much to expect nowadays..

I would encourage other people from the same institutions to put in a bit of research to see the malafide behind such a regressive piece and come out with a counter piece to preserve the reputation of your institutions..

Why such disrespect for the nation's mandate to rule?

Why such love for hearsay?

Why such keenness to misinterpret every intent?

Why such joy in embracing an irrelevant leftist mindset?

Why such pleasure in spreading canard?

And why don't you consider leaving judgements to the Courts of Law and the Indian voters?

The content of their letter exposed them completely. Letter says that they have hardly any concern about privacy but only issue is, "Digital India" must not become a success and Silicon Valley should be stopped to help India achieve this target, though Silicon Valley is not doing it for free. They want to stop Modi to succeed even if it comes at expense of a billion Indian who are craving for better services, jobs etc. We must not spare them .. spread their name in social media. The above comments by the ‘Modi-brigade’ are the best example of the threat our nation faces from these lumpens. Yes, article is all factually correct. Modi has shown no traces of leadership in last one year. The idiots, who argue the we had aeroplanes in ancient india, are our leaders now. And, before you say so, this is not a defence of the Congress government. At fundamental level, it is Congress’s (and the left’s) statist and bureaucratic policies that have led us on this path. that indicate Indians had thought of 'Vaimanik Shasne' neither in Gujarat nor in Delhi we have found Modi a control freak. He has always delegated responsibilities. We can't see any authoritarian streak in him either. He is a hard-nosed negotiator. His government has not used Article 356 so far to control governments that do not see eye to eye with him. That is remarkable. He has given greater share to the states in the tax pie, following a uniform policy that's non-discretionary. He has achieved huge achievements. And you know these Commies are talking through their hat following a certain agenda.

@Shashank, What data you have to conclude the Modi is authoritarian a control freak. Do you know anything about the Indian National Congress party? Do you know who runs it? Do you know how long a single family has run it? Do you understand what 60 years mean?

Even yesterday, the Sufi Muslim leaders, after having the PM, commented that - "Here is a person whom we didn't vote but still had the mind to listen to us. In the past we had supported certain people but they never spoke to us. He doesn't need us, but still he spoke to us." I guess that says a lot about what Mr.Modi is as a PM.

Are you an Indian or an American? If you are not an Indian, please F#%#K off from here.
